

JAMES

70 | MUSIC ENTHUSIAST | WICKLOW, IE

DESCRIPTION

James is a retired businessman who has been around music all his life but never learned how to play.

James loves to interact with the musicians in his local pub, and talk to them about the tunes they play and the instruments they bring each week. He has basic technology skills but knows how to use the browser on his computer at home.

"I want to be able to know a little about the music I hear in the local pub, and to be able to talk to the musicians with confidence."
